PROFILE

Interior designer specializing in precise, functional space planning and luxury design, with an affinity for the residential, commercial and hospitality worlds. A deep passion for the profession, a broad design vision and close attention to detail. I believe that good design connects aesthetics, functionality and experience, and has the power to improve the way people live and feel in a space.

EXPERIENCE

Barbara Berzin Studio for Interior Design Professional internship alongside Barbara Berzin, Tel Aviv

Close work alongside Barbara within a professional internship, with active involvement in the studio's projects and in its planning and design processes. Hands-on experience on real projects, development of planning solutions and an in-depth familiarity with the professional workflow. Intensive work and investment beyond the required hours, with commitment, a high work ethic and fast learning.

Atzmon Design Founder and Principal Designer PRESENT

Independent studio for private homes, villas and hospitality, leading each project personally from concept to the last detail. Presents projects through photoreal, first-person walkthrough renderings.

SELECTED PROJECTS

Private Villa, Kfar Adumim Full interior planning BUILT

Planning of a private villa that was subsequently built. Starting from an existing architectural plan, re-examined the scheme and introduced planning improvements that made the spaces more efficient and raised the quality of the final result; the interior planning was entirely my own, tailored to the functional and design needs of the project. The scheme was selected as the winning plan by the project's managers and developers; awarded a prize, and the house model was named after me.

Horowitz Project, Rishon LeZion Urban renewal (Pinui-Binui), two residential buildings TENDER STAGE

Significant involvement in an urban-renewal project within a tender process before investors: planning of a new complex with two residential buildings. A substantial part in the planning of both buildings and in the analysis of architectural and planning constraints, including orientation and ventilation, building lines, circulation, elevators, parking, and the organization of the buildings and the plot. A systemic view of the whole project and many parameters handled in parallel, rather than the design of a single space.

Engineering Company Offices, Ashdod Three shell-condition offices turned into a complete workplace COMPLETED

Managed and planned an office project from the first stage to completion. The client purchased three new offices in shell condition; accompanied their transformation into a fully planned working environment: concept and planning, space division, a complete set of working drawings, and supervision through the execution stages. Led the project from the empty shell to a built, functioning office.

Penthouse From an empty contractor apartment to occupancy COMPLETED

Independent project: a penthouse received as an empty shell and planned comprehensively up to move-in. Air-conditioning and electrical plans, elevations and layouts, a custom-designed kitchen, material selection, design and work with special stone and marble surfaces, styling and the completion of the home's design language. The clients live in the

Two-Storey Private House, Goni Cohen New build, including site development

Planning of a new-build private house with an overall view of the structure and the site development: space division, the relationships between the areas of the house, functional planning, and attention to the envelope and the surroundings.

Two-Storey Private House, Sivan and Ami Shalom New build, interior and exterior together

Planning of a new two-storey house, including site development and an integrated view of interior and exterior, with planning solutions tailored to the family's needs and to the everyday functioning of the home.

Existing House, Judy Gadot Re-planning of an old house

An old house with existing defects and planning challenges: rethinking the structure and formulating a new plan, including a set of working drawings for executing the changes. Dealing with an existing situation and its constraints rather than a blank page, and finding practical solutions within the existing structure.

Luxury Villa, Tel Aviv Custom-made carpentry

Design of high-end custom carpentry as part of a luxury villa project in Tel Aviv: joinery details fitted precisely to the space and to the project's design language, with attention to proportions, materials, functionality and execution details.

Private Estate, Moshav Tzur Moshe Luxury residential project ACTIVE

Planning and design within an active luxury residential project: children's rooms with a unique concept, including complex custom carpentry and climbing and play elements that bring together experience, functionality and high-level design; the living area; and the development of the project's design language.

Consulting and Planning for Private Homes Renovations and new builds

Consultation meetings and planning processes for private clients, in renovations of existing homes and in new-build projects: planning alternatives, space division, the clients' needs, and the relationship between the house and its surroundings, including site development.

AWARDS & RECOGNITION

- Winning scheme, private villa project in Kfar Adumim: the plan was selected by the project's managers and developers, awarded a prize, and the house model was named after me.

EDUCATION

Diploma in Interior Design Barbara Berzin Studio for Interior Design Studies, Tel Aviv

Two-year program: a year of theoretical studies (technical drawing, space planning and development, building processes, quantity take-offs and technical specifications, materials), followed by a year of practical apprenticeship in the studio on real client projects.

Rendering and 3D Visualization Course 2026

Advanced course in design rendering and visualization.
